PRO TIP FROM PRISCILLA

For those of you following my trilogy about my recent trip to Italy, this is installment two of my experiences. Last month was about pizza, next month is about pasta, this month is all about the wine! Be sure to "Like" us on Facebook, too, because we'll have some dedicated albums to showcase some of our great Italian experiences!

Vino, Vino, Vino!

One of my favorite things to do is enjoy a wonderful glass of wine. While I was in Italy, I had many opportunities to do just that. My husband and I were fortunate to enjoy two separate winery tours in the Tuscany region, courtesy of our wine vendor here in New Hampshire. The first tour was to the beautiful Castello di Verrazzano vineyards just outside the quaint village of Grete, in Tuscany. This boutique winery has been in existence since the 16th century, and was the original home of the famous explorer, Giovanni di Verrazzano. (Ever heard of the Verrazzano Narrows Bridge? Yah, that's the guy!) This family-owned and operated vineyard produces approximately 400,000 bottles a year, all with families who live onsite, and have for generations. We've chosen their Castello di Verrazzano Chianti Classico, to add to our wine list.

A couple weeks later we toured the Rocca delle Macie Winery near Castellina in Chianti, between Siena and Florence, famous for its exquisite Chianti Classico blends. It's the soil, which is the perfect blend of clay and limestone that nurtures the vines to produce the best Sangiovese grapes. Genuine certified Chianti Classico wines from that region are identifiable by the "gallo nero" (black rooster) depicted on the label at the neck of the bottle. We were fortunate to tour the winery during "Crush", the time of year when the grape are harvested and crushed. Our tour guide, Georgia, had been at the winery for 20 years, and there was nothing about grapes, soil, crush, aging or bottling she didn't know. We had a wonderfully educational tasting, and have selected several to add to the 900 Degrees menu. One selection is the Rocca Delle Macie Sasyr, which is a wonderful Sangiovese/Syrah blend. The perfect wine to pair with Pizza!

All in all we've selected four exquisite wines from the region to add to our already well rounded wine list. All of these wines were specially selected to pair with our delicious menu. Be sure to check out our Epping wine list and our Manchester wine list. Hope you get to enjoy them!

Happy Holidays from ALL of us at 900 Degrees!
